Each of the private sitting-rooms, a well as the coffee-room, is provided with a well-selected little library of its own, and I need hardly say what a resource this is in a country in which, no matter what may be said to the contrary, it really does rain sometimes. Gweedore presents in this respect a marked contrast to to be able to report further figures relating to this breakfast, but unfortunately we had to catch a train. BACKBITERS.

There is a certain class of men in the world who say all sorts of mean things about you when you are absent and all kinds of pleasant things when you are present. They are un-like any of the other vermin which lavish nature has produced. Even a mosquito would as soon alight on the tip of your nose, right in front of back of your bead, and the noble wasp or roused hornet wastes no time in buzzing about the rear, bu comes in a straight line for the first vulnerable spot. It is reserved for the human stinger to be cautious— hence, perhaps, his name of back-biter. Mark Lemon has left behind him four lines which aptly describe all these descendants of Uriah Heep:

The Stockman is responsible for the following: "The wheat story of the season comes to us from Clarks date, down in Christian county, Ill. where a Mr. Clark some years ago mortgaged his land for $20,000, and failed to pay more than a $1,000 ef the interest, which accrued as Interest will. Suit was brought to foreclos the mortgage, but Mr. Clark fought to gain time, and strange as it may seem, his attorney was enabled to delay matters so much that his chen had time to sow quite a respectable area of wheat. This summer he harvested eight hundred acres of wheat and sold the crop at 92 cents pe bushel, realizing enough to pay $25,000 of the $27,000 principal, interest and cost due on the place. To do this required an average of 34 bushels
